Do You Know Your Feet Need Some More Love?

Nearly 8 out of 10 adults say they have experienced one or more foot problems, including chronic conditions causing prolonged pain.

It's no wonder, with the average adult expected to walk more than 100,000 miles in their lifetime and the human foot being such a complicated system. Our two feet contain more than 50 bones – more than one-quarter of all the bones in your body – as well as more than 60 joints and 200 muscles, tendons, and ligaments that hold them together and help them move.

Here is a “top ten” of some of the most common problems:

Flat Feet

A genetic condition in which some people do not develop arches in their feet. Arches can also fall over time as the tendon that runs along the inside of your ankle and helps support your arch weakens with wear and tear, especially if using improper footwear. Flat feet can sometimes contribute to problems in your ankles and knees due to misalignment.

Plantar Fasciitis

A painful disorder in which the tissue (fascia) that runs across the bottom of your foot and connects your heel bone to your toe becomes inflamed or even torn. It usually causes a stabbing pain in the bottom of your foot near the heel. Plantar fasciitis is often the result of overuse and is common among runners and other athletes of all levels.

Heel Spurs

Those with plantar fasciitis are at greater risk for developing heel spurs, a calcium deposit causing a bony protrusion on the underside of the heel bone. Excess weight, overuse, or wearing shoes without a supporting arch can cause heel spurs.

Hammer Toe and Mallet Toe

Hammer toe is an abnormal bend in the middle joint of a toe while mallet toe affects the joint nearest the toenail. Hammer toe and mallet toe usually occur in your second, third and fourth toes and result in a curved toe that points down rather than outward.

Bunions

A painful bony bump that develops on the inside of the foot at the big toe joint. Bunions are more common for women as tight, narrow shoes that squeeze the toes together make it more likely for a bunion to develop, worsen and cause painful symptoms. In most cases, bunion pain is relieved by wearing wider shoes with adequate toe room and using other simple treatments to reduce pressure on the big toe.

Corns and Calluses

These are thick, rough and raised patches of dead skin and form by repeated rubbing against a bony area of the foot, usually by shoes that don't fit well.

Blisters

Soft pockets of raised skin filled with clear fluid. “Most blisters are caused by friction between the skin on the foot and the inside of your shoes,” says Allan M. Boike, dean of the College of Podiatric Medicine at Kent State University. Blisters on the feet can be prevented by wearing comfortable, well-fitting shoes and socks.

Ingrown Toenails

A common condition, usually of the big toe, where the nail cuts into the surrounding nail bed causing an infection and pain. Improper toenail clipping, shoes that press your toes together and unusually curved toenails can cause ingrown toenails.

Ball of Foot Pain

Also known as metatarsalgia, this sharp, aching or burning pain in the ball of your foot – the part of the sole just behind your toes – can develop because of poor fitting shoes or overuse. If it feels like you are standing on a pebble in your shoe, it may instead be Morton's neuroma, a thickening of the tissue around one of the nerves leading to your toes.

Peripheral Neuropathy

A disorder that occurs when nerves malfunction because they're damaged or destroyed. Symptoms often include numbness, tingling, or burning sensations. It's often a complex condition with a variety of causes and treatment options, including a change in footwear.

Time-Honored Ways to Love Your Feet

Caring for your feet is a critical component of maintaining overall health.

"The health of your feet, despite their distance from your heart, can affect your overall health," says Dr. Paul F. Brezinski, a Chicago-area podiatrist and president of the Illinois Podiatric Medical Association. "Achiness or pain in your feet can have many causes, and you shouldn't ignore foot pain or regard it as a normal part of life."

It's important to practice some regular self-care for your feet to keep them in tip-top shape.

Here are some proven ways from around the world to love your feet

Nightly Hot Foot Bath Before Bed

A nightly hot foot bath reduces inflammation and stimulates circulation, bringing congested blood to the dilated vessels in the feet and lower legs. It will also help reduce the presence and appearance of typical foot problems like calluses, corns and dry, flaky skin. Some also hold that it leads to improved sleep.

Regular Foot Massage

According to Harvard Medical School, regular foot massages improve circulation, stimulates muscles, reduces tension, and often eases pain. They also provide an opportunity for you to "check out" your feet, catching blisters, bunions, corns, callouses and toenail problems before they develop into something more serious.

Scrubbing Your Heel with a Pumice Stone

Pumice is a textural rock formed from volcanic eruptions and has a long history of being used in personal care – from ancient Egypt to Rome. As part of your nightly foot bath, you can apply a wet pumice stone to your softened feet (after they have already soaked for at least 5 minutes).

Stretching and Strengthening

We often don't pay enough attention to our feet as part of our exercise routines. They play a critical role in our overall body's strength and flexibility, however, and regularly exercising and stretching the feet and ankles can help ensure that muscles are providing the best support.

Pedicures

Clipping, cutting and cleaning of the toenails prevents them from growing inward and causing infection while the removal of callouses on the feet can prevent the formation of pressure points from uneven weight distribution.

Hot Stone Therapy

A technique dating back thousands of years in Asia, hot stone therapy can be a helpful addition to foot massages and pedicures. Heated, smooth, flat stones – often basalt rocks – are placed on top of and underneath your feet, as well as between your toes. The heat from the rocks relaxes your muscles and stimulates pressure points in your feet.

FitVille Footwear is Designed to Love Your Feet

The number one way to love your feet well is to use a proper pair of footwear. FitVille products have been uniquely designed with key elements to reduce pain, improve comfort and promote overall foot and body health.

Wide Toe Box

A specially designed wider toe box frees your toes to enjoy day-to-day activities. Say goodbye to the days of painfully jamming your feet into narrow sneakers. FitVille sneakers are made especially for those with wider feet, allowing your toes freedom of movement and a more comfortable experience no matter where your shoes take you during the day.

Dual-Density, Non-Slip Sole

FitVille features a patented front and rear end sole made with two different density materials, ensuring both elasticity and cushioning. The differing densities and slip-resistant texture allow you to move comfortably and maintain a grip on any surface, perfect for walking distances or your normal daily activities in any weather conditions.

High Instep

Our spacious instep design eliminates the pain so often felt while wearing a standard pair of sneakers.

Stability Support

FitVille's heel ring helps to prevent excessive side-to-side heel movement to reduce chances of developing overpronation or ankle sprains.

Shock-Absorbing Pad

This pad is designed to alleviate heel pain and will make walking and running more comfortable, reducing stress on your feet, legs and entire body.

Made to Fit

FitVille's innovative line of sneakers are made to take on the shape of your foot for the perfect fit. Experience the sensation of having a shoe designed to fit the unique contours of your feet. They'll feel so good, you won't ever want to take them off!

User Testimonials and Reviews of FitVille Footwear

"My orthopedic doctor instructed me to get a sneaker with a high toe box. These fit the bill at a reasonable price plus the insoles can be removed to fit my orthotics. Most of all, they are very comfortable. 5 stars."

————— Connie Bacon

"These shoes are amazing! With my chronic pain issues, I have tried a LOT of shoes over the years. They do not bind or pressure anywhere other shoes do. It's like you custom made these shoes for my foot - these actually support and relieve pressure everywhere I normally get pain."

————— Pastor Dave Poedel

"I love these shoes. I have never found any kind of shoes that give me such relief at work. I have had 3 surgeries on my foot and now I finally found comfortable shoes to walk in. Definitely will buy more." 🥰👍

————— Pamela Yates

"I have never had a pair of wide shoes fit so well and be so comfortable from the first time I wore them! Usually, it would take some time but these shoes fit and offer the support I need for my plantar fasciitis and heel spur. I highly recommend this shoe!! FitVille is fit well!"

————— Debbie Cerrato

"I've worn these shoes for about a month now on a daily basis. The fit is very comfortable with lots of room for toes. I got the wide size for my feet since they swell and contract over an eight to 12 hour period while wearing them. My previous issues with foot, ankle and knee pain went away after a week of wearing them. The arch support these shoes give considering my plus size weight have definitely contributed to helping relieve the pain I once had."

————— Paul Ewald

"I've had issues with my feet for years. Finding shoes that would give me relief have been an adventure plus I have 4e wide feet so any shoe that might help with pain would not be wide enough until I bought a pair of FitVille Men Rebound Core. Not only am I able to walk comfortably now but my feet actually have room. I will be ordering another pair to use as a work shoe around the house. Great shoe at a great price."

————— Craig Oltmann
